Policy

It is our policy to give you all the information we have on anything that we sell, to fill your orders with the same care you would use if you were making your selection personally, and to give you any help with your cultural problems that we are able to give. We will welcome any suggestions that you might have from time to time for improvement of our service to you.

Shipping

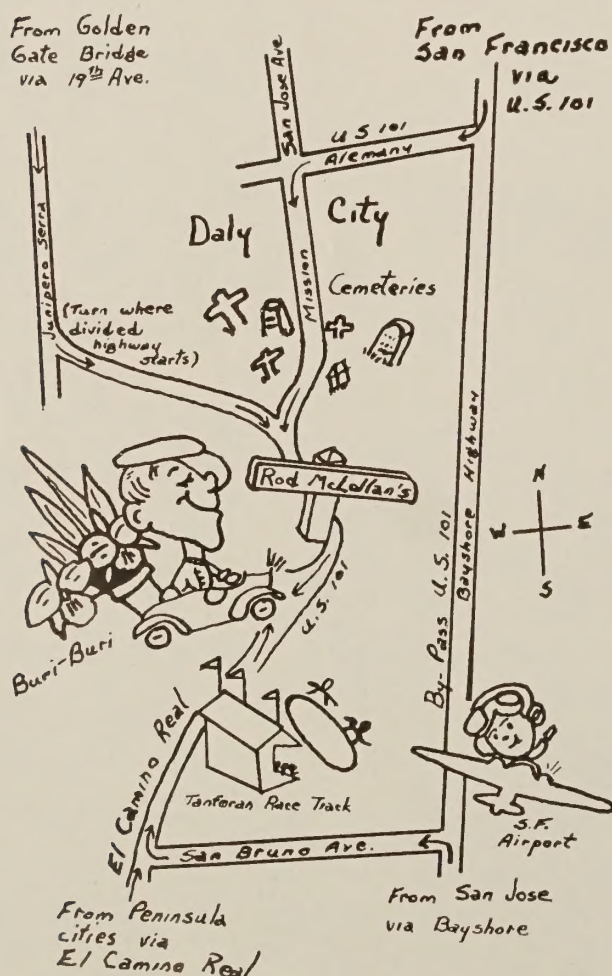

We do not charge for packing. Local gift shipments are packaged in attractive containers, which you see pictured to the right, and distant shipments travel safely in our special orchid cartons, all over the word. A three page folder of GROWING INSTRUCTIONS sent FREE with all orders—the complete information you need to grow your orchids.

We ship VIA RAILWAY EXPRESS, unless otherwise directed, and guarantee safe arrival. AIR SHIPMENTS are about twice the cost of rail, outside of California, except for large orders, when reasonable rates to most metropolitan points may be obtained by shipping air freight. We do not suggest parcelpost shipment except where absolutely necessary, on plant shipments. Should your plant arrive damaged, please request inspection from the carrier, and SEND THEIR REPORT TO US. We will replace damaged plants, BUT NEED THIS CARRIER REPORT IN ORDER TO DO SO.

Orders received AFTER DECEMBER 20th, will be HELD FOR SHIPMENT until March 15th, UNLESS CUSTOMER REQUESTS SHIPMENT AT HIS OWN RISK, if destination or ROUTE IN TRANSIT will subject the plants to freezing weather.

From Golden Gate Bridge via 19th Ave.

From San Francisco via U.S. 101

So--YOU Want To Grow ORCHIDS

← So did they →

IN WISCONSIN—Mrs. Angoli waters her plant. We suggest more light than would enter through her curtain, except in mid-summer.

And now they do!

... Just as others have for years—and why not? What other house plant will give you so much pleasure and so lasting an interest? For a minimum of time and effort (only geraniums in California are easier), you may produce orchids right in your living room, or office, or kitchen—anywhere you have a bright window, with a minimum of about 60° F. at night, for most types. We give below a few simple directions for each genus, or family, listed in our catalog. Should you want more detailed directions, write for our free folder on the orchid family in which you are particularly interested, on purchase one of the excellent recent books on orchids you will find listed on page 21 of this catalog.

CATTLEYAS

The Most Popular, and Easiest-to-Grow Orchid

Light: Place in a bright window, where plant will get DIRECT sun, preferably both morning and afternoon, with protection only from hot, burning sun; otherwise, no curtains, blinds, or draperies.

Temperature: About 60° at night, 72° or higher with sun heat during the day. Occasional deviations will not harm the plants, as all orchids will stand for a few hours temperatures as low as 40°. It is prolonged low temperature that does the damage.

Humidity: In the GROWING area, set the plants on a tray filled with pebbles (any pebbles will do) and water.

IN CALIFORNIA—Mrs. Shattuck's collection, with a bit of San Francisco in the background.

Make sure the growing area is FREE FROM FORCED DRAFTS, since moving air is drying. Make sure, too, that there is a LITTLE SPACE between the bottom of the pot and the water level, to permit air to circulate and pick up moisture from the wet pebbles.

Watering: Pour two cups onto top of osmunda every FIVE TO SEVEN DAYS, depending upon the weather. During cool, wet weather, you will need to water less frequently. During hot, dry weather, you will need to water more frequently. Most of the water will run through the potting material (osmunda). Do not let this over-fill your humidity tray.

Flowering: Most Cattleyas flower once a year at about the same time each year. DISPLAY BLOOMING PLANTS ANYWHERE about the house, in any way you like (NO NEED FOR THE HUMIDITY TRAY), just so they out of forced drafts.

CYPRIPEDIUMS

Light: Need a bit less light than Cattleyas. Window sill growers often compensate for this by placing them behind the Cattleyas.

Temperature: Mottled-leaf Cypripediums need same temperatures as Cattleyas. See Odontoglossums for plain-leaf requirements.

IN NORTH CAROLINA—IN A BASEMENT! Mrs. Reid's plants never see the light of day—a fluorescent lighting system acts as sunlight about 18 hours a day.

Humidity: Same arrangement as for Cattleyas.

Watering: Need CONSTANT moisture about the roots. Water frequently, these will thrive with bottom of pot plunged halfway down into the pebbles.

Flowering: Each growth will flower as it comes into maturity, seldom a set season, but heavy winter bloomers.

ODONTOGLOSSUMS

Light: About the same light as for Cattleyas.

Temperature: A cool-growing plant, needing 72° or so daytimes, with a drop to 50° or 55° at night. NOT RECOMMENDED where climate includes prolonged high heat at night.

Humidity: Same arrangement as for Cattleyas.

Watering: Water same as for Cattleyas, except during semi-dormant season, just after flowering until new growth appears, when watering should be decreased slightly.

Flowering: Flowers once a year about the same time each year.

CYMBIDIUMS

Light: Filtered sunlight.

Temperature: Same as for Odontoglossums. Grows best in cool glasshouse, etc., but may be grown outdoors in climates where killing frosts do not occur. Not recommended for in-the-home culture, or for tropic or semi-tropical climates.

Humidity: Natural humidity is usually sufficient.

Watering: Keep moist, but not dripping wet, at all times.

Flowering: Flowers early January through late Spring. May be displayed indoors when in bloom, at which time they stand heat best.

VANDAS

Light: Needs more light than most orchids. Some varieties grown in full sunlight in Hawaii.

Temperature: Strictly a warm-growing variety, ideal minimum at night is 65° plus. Not recommended for in-the-home collections, although a fair degree of success has been attained by some home growers. These plants do best in glasshouses.

Humidity: Same arrangement as for Cattleyas, like even more humidity.

Watering: Should be always moist. Water frequently.

Flowering: Long lasting sprays appear, sometimes six times a year.

PHALAENOPSIS

Light: Needs a little less light than Cattleyas.

Temperature: Another warmer variety. Ideal for minimum at night 65° plus. Although some success has been attained by home orchid growers, these plants are generally considered a bit trickier than are Cattleyas, in the home.

Humidity: Same arrangement as for Cattleyas.

Watering: Should have fairly constant moisture at the roots, but do not keep potting compound dripping wet.

Flowering: Long lasting spikes, flower usually twice a year.

Note correct water level BELOW surface of pebbles.

Flowering Size Cattleyas

This group of plants was especially selected for sales purposes. All are good grade plants, well grown, with a variety of coloration and markings, as well as flowering season.

Our prices are based on the SIZE and QUANTITY OF BLOOMS, SIZE OF PLANT, and NUMBER OF LEADS. Various COMBINATIONS of these FACTORS RESULT IN PRICE RANGES for the same pot size, as you will note below.

When two prices are shown opposite a pot size, intermediate prices are available. IT WILL SAVE TIME IN FILLING YOUR ORDERS IF YOU WILL STATE THE RANGE OF PRICES ACCEPTABLE, AND WHETHER OR NOT WE MAY SUBSTITUTE A SIMILAR VARIETY.

Free Plant Bonus--Catalog Special!

Build a Superior Collection at a Most Reasonable Cost!

For every two plants ordered from the listing below, we will send another HYBRID CATTLEYA, our choice, FREE, of VALUE EQUAL TO THE QUALITY OR BETTER THAN THAT OF THE PLANTS YOU ORDER. Since the supply of plants is strictly limited for each listing, WE RESERVE THE RIGHT OF SUBSTITUTION. In case we must substitute, we GUARANTEE to send a plant of equal or BETTER quality than your original selection, chosen from this list.

These plants are all first quality, hybrid Cattleyas, which will make better-than-average additions to any collection. We are making this special offer because the limited quantity of each cross (less than five) makes it too expensive to carry on our inventory from year to year. FIVE, SIX AND EVEN SEVEN INCH POTS, price range indicates size and quality. QUANTITY DISCOUNTS DO NOT APPLY.

Unusual Orchids

For the collector or the inquisitive seeking the unusual, or for those who may be bored with the lavender corsage orchids, we continue to add to this collection from all over the world—many of the most interesting among the botanicals. All plants, in accordance with our custom, are shipped already established in pot, and when in season, are SHIPPED IN BUD, as well, if you so request. Plants marked with an asterisk are especially adaptable to in-the-home growing conditions.

Cypripedium

Long Lasting Flowers . . . Exotic Colors

Often called the "Lady Slipper" orchids, because their flower form resembles a shoe—the pouch is the toe, the dorsal sepal the heel, and the petals two straps to be pulled about the ankle.

The flowers will last about six weeks on the plant. See notes on page 4 for the culture. Flowering season varies.

Rhododendrons

WELL BUDDED PLANTS AVAILABLE THROUGH APRIL, 1955

We are offering a selected group of these lovely plants to our orchid customers, because we think they have been educated to expect the best from any of their flowering plants.

Rhododendrons do best in well drained soils which are on the acid side. Heavy applications of leaf mold and peat moss on alkaline soils are necessary for good results. Protection from strong wind is necessary and heavy shading should be avoided—protect only from the hottest sun.

Shipped balled in burlap, the plant should be placed in the earth so that the ball is not more than one inch below soil level. Plants like plenty of moisture during hot weather. Deep cultivating is harmful to feeder roots. An application of leaf mold or peat moss two or three inches deep around plants is best. Rhododendrons may be fed heavily during the growing season. We suggest RAC, a Gaviota product.
